THE LOOK: NEW STONE AGE

Further proving the influence of Mother Nature in home design this season, the second trend spotted at The Look, the Fall Market at the Boston Design Center, was stones and geodes, whose influence was seen in everything from wall coverings to home accessories.

NEW STONE AGE

Designers uncover a growing fascination with the underground world through the use of stones and geodes. Digging deep below the earth's surface, materials range from marble to agate, crystal to onyx, and are used everywhere—table top accessories, home furnishings, tiles and wall coverings. A contemporary wall covering from Cole & Son, Malachite mimics the dazzling bands of this extravagant mineral as seen through the eyes of Milanese painter Piero Fornasetti.
